Life Reflections

Mosie Lee Jones-Wallace was born July 15, 1930 to parents James Jones, Jr. and Savannah Jones-Brown in Blytheville, Arkansas. Mosie Lee had eight brothers and sisters. She was the sixth child born in the family.

Mosie Lee professed her faith as a child and was baptized in her family Baptist Church in Blytheville, Arkansas. She relocated to St. Louis, Missouri. Mosie Lee joined the Episcopal Church of Ascension in 1974 and was confirmed. She was very active in the life of the church and also served on the Altar Guild. Mosie was married to Andrew Wallace. She raised five children: Yvonne, Elaine, Warren, Annette and Victor.

She was employed at Mercantile Bank for thirty years.

Mosie Lee was a devoted, loving mother, grandmother and aunt. She adored her nieces, nephews and cousins.

She enjoyed church fellowship activities, cooking Sunday dinner for her family and all family gatherings. Mosie Lee preferred listening to the Cardinals baseball games on the radio and she also enjoyed reading the newspaper. Mosie Lee also loved returning home to Arkansas to visit her family.
